Incident Response

Security incidents are increasing year over year, and ransomware and phishing are at all-time highs. If your organization has become the victim of a cyberattack, our Incident Response solution is here to help.

Our security team is focused on getting your business back up and running, kicking/keeping malicious actors out, and determining the root cause of the incident. Our team includes subject matter experts that can perform a forensic analysis, assist with standing back up affected services, and architecting a more resilient infrastructure.

With our comprehensive approach to IR, you will:

- Know what steps need to be taken to stop any active access/attacks.

- Know how to reduce the risk of further incidents.

- Have a collection of all relevant supporting data.

- Understand all logged activities by any malicious actors as part of this attack.

- Know the Root Cause Analysis (RCA) based on available data.

- Be provided with a final report of all findings, as well as detailed suggestions for immediate and long term remediation needed in the organization.
