

KPB Mobile Panic Button

The mobile panic button is a personal security alert system that allows you to get help no matter where you are.

The push of a button on the KPB mobile panic button sends an alert through the system. The emergency notification is sent to your designated security center. The alert includes the GPS location so that help can be sent to your location. The emergency panic button system can provide a quick response to any emergency. It's more than a medical alert system. It is a total personal emergency call button system designed to be used no matter where in the world you are.

Instant Alert to Your Security Center:

Push the alert button on the KPB three times, and you can alert the emergency center of your choice. For example, give the KPB panic button to each teacher, and they can instantly alert the main office of an active shooter, medical situation, or other threat.

You can select the right security notification center such as the hospital's security staff, the campus police, the universal "911", or even your management. This is a professional emergency button system that is designed for your organization.

Instant Alert to Your Security People

Provides notification to a preselected list of people when an emergency occurs.

The KPB Mobile Panic Button System Works Wherever You Are

When you're out and about, the triple click instantly connects through your phone to the local police or designated dispatcher. Your GPS location, as well as your profile, is sent to the dispatcher. The two-way communication is established allowing you to talk through your KPB to the center. The KPB GPS is also triggered to track any movements until the call is resolved. The KPB personal emergency panic button can react with an audible alarm or can send a silent request. This silent alarm prevents making the situation worse. For example, a visiting nurse can trigger the alarm without upsetting the patient.
