

Practical Exposure Assessment services provide real world attack simulations to produce a point in-time review of vulnerabilities and threats to your environment.

Leveraging industry best practices, tactics, techniques, and procedures, we deploy a unified threat scenario to examine the resiliency and effectiveness of your security operations, technical policies, and defenses. Your operational resilience is assessed in a holistic manner by combining numerous testing approaches into a comprehensive engagement with the goal of finding and accessing your most critical digital assets.

With a Practical Exposure Assessment (External) you will:

- Know your current cyber-resiliency levels
- Know the effectiveness of your security controls and defenses
- Know your vulnerabilities that exist today
- Improve your posture through recommendations and remediation
- Improve your team's organizational resiliency
- Improve skills for your defenders
- Improve company security awareness
